The Canada Council is committed to equity and inclusion, and encourages applications and nominations from culturally diverse, Deaf, disability and official language minority artists, groups and organizations. The Canada Council recognizes and affirms the Aboriginal and treaty rights of the Indigenous peoples of this land and encourages applications and nominations from First Nations, Inuit and Métis individuals, groups, and organizations in all its programs. Measures are in place in all programs to support these commitments.

Deadline

15 June 2020

If this date falls on a weekend or statutory holiday, the deadline moves to the next business day.

Your completed nomination and all required documents must be postmarked on or before the deadline date.

The Canada Council will not accept nominations postmarked after the deadline, incomplete nominations, or those submitted by fax or email.

Program Objectives

“My purpose in establishing the Killam Trusts is to help in the building of Canada’s future by encouraging advanced study. Thereby I hope, in some measure, to increase the scientific and scholastic attainments of Canadians, to develop and expand the work of Canadian universities, and to promote sympathetic understanding between Canadians and the peoples of other countries.”

——From the Will of Dorothy J. Killam, who died 27 July 1965

Program Description

The Killam Program offers two kinds of awards: Killam Prizes and Killam Research Fellowships.

These prizes and fellowships, which are administered by the Canada Council, provide support to scholars of exceptional ability who are engaged in research of broad significance and widespread interest.

The awards honour the memory and exceptional achievements of Mrs. Dorothy J. Killam’s husband, Izaak Walton Killam.

The Killam Prizes are intended to honour distinguished Canadian scholars who have been engaged in research in universities, hospitals, research or scientific institutes, or other similar institutions. The prizes are funded through lifetime and testamentary gifts to the Canada Council from Mrs. Killam. They are awarded annually, on a competitive basis, to distinguished Canadian scholars doing research in any of the following disciplines:

- humanities
- social sciences
- natural sciences
- health sciences
- engineering.

Normally, 1 prize is awarded each year in each of the 5 disciplines.

Separate guidelines for the Killam Research Fellowships are available on the Canada Council website at canadacouncil.ca and killamprogram.canadacouncil.ca.

Eligibility

Note that meeting the eligibility criteria allows candidates to be nominated for a Killam Prize. It does not, however, guarantee that they will receive a prize.

The Canada Council retains the right to interpret the contents of the nomination guidelines and form.

Eligible candidates

Scholars may not apply for the Killam Prizes; they must be nominated by an expert in their field.

Killam Prizes are intended for active (not retired) Canadian scholars who have made a substantial and distinguished contribution, over a significant period, to scholarly research. A Killam Prize is not intended as an “end of service” reward, as recognition for one great accomplishment, or in expectation of future distinguished contributions.

Only Canadian citizens are eligible, and the prizes are awarded only to living candidates. The candidate does not need to be living in Canada when she or he is nominated.

<th>Eligibility (continued)</th>
<th>In keeping with the Canada Council's commitment to equity and inclusion, the Killam Program encourages the participation of women scholars and researchers and members of under-represented groups.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Restrictions</td>
<td>Members of the Canada Council Board and members of the Killam Selection Committee are not eligible to be considered for these prizes during their term as members, and for 6 months following the end of their term. Only 1 nomination in 1 category per nominee per competition is allowed. No individual may be awarded a Killam Prize more than once.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Resubmission of Nominations</td>
<td>A nominator may resubmit a nomination for a specific nominee as many times as desired. However, a nominator may only use the same nomination package for 2 consecutive deadlines. To do this, the nominator must send a letter to the Canada Council requesting that the nomination package be resubmitted, and include an updated curriculum vitae for the nominee, on or before the competition deadline date. A new nomination package is required for a third consecutive nomination, or if more than 1 year has elapsed since the last nomination.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Amount of Awards</td>
<td>Each Killam Prize recipient receives $100,000.</td>
</tr>

| Application/ Nomination Assistance | Application/Nomination Assistance
Application Assistance contributes to costs for services to help with a prize application or nomination for individuals who self-identify as:
- an artist who is Deaf, hard of hearing, has a disability or is living with a mental illness
- a First Nations, Inuit or Métis artist facing language, geographic and/or cultural barriers.
To submit a request, contact the officer responsible for the prize 4 weeks prior to the deadline. More information is available on our website: canadacouncil.ca/commitments/equity/application-assistance |
| Assessment of Nominations | Selection process
Peer evaluation is fundamental to Canada Council’s decision-making process. The nominations will be evaluated, and final decisions made, by the Killam selection committee. The Canada Council appoints the committee members, taking into account the recommendations of specialists in the Canadian and international academic and research communities. The committee members are also selected with consideration to fair representation of various disciplines, and of characteristics that contribute to the representativeness and credibility of peer committees, namely demographic diversity, Indigenous peoples of this land, cultural diversity, gender, age, official languages, regions, persons with disabilities and Deaf people.
The Canada Council reserves the right to request letters of assessment from external evaluators. All selection committee recommendations are final.
For further information please consult the Canada Council’s website at canadacouncil.ca. |

Assessment criteria
The Killam Selection Committee will evaluate the nominations on their merit, compared with each other in a national context. The prizes will be offered to those candidates considered outstanding by the committee.

The following points will figure prominently in the selection of the candidates being considered for the Killam Prize:

- the exceptional quality of the candidate’s research achievements;
- evidence of the candidate’s outstanding commitment, creativity and efforts to share research knowledge beyond the academic community;
- the enduring contribution of the candidate’s ideas and research results to Canadian society, including the nation’s intellectual and/or cultural life;
- the scope of the candidate’s research contributions, taking into account the norms of the field of study;
- where appropriate, the international stature of the candidate.

General Information on the Killams and the Killam Trusts

The Killams
Izaak Walton Killam was born to modest circumstances, in 1885, in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. He began his business career, at the age of 18, as a junior clerk in the Yarmouth branch of the Union Bank of Halifax. He was soon transferred to the bank’s head office, in Halifax, where his talent and reputation caught the attention of Maxwell Aitken (who later became Lord Beaverbrook), who was in the process of setting up the Royal Securities Corporation. In 1904, Mr. Aitken persuaded the younger man to join Royal Securities, and this move became the foundation of his remarkable financial career.

By 1914, Mr. Killam had replaced Lord Beaverbrook as president of Royal Securities, and shortly after that he acquired the former president’s shares in the firm. Mr. Killam remained president of Royal Securities for the next 40 years. In that time, the company became one of Canada’s most influential investment houses, and Izaak Walton Killam established himself as one of the outstanding figures in Canadian financial history.

Recognizing the great potential of Canada’s forest and hydro-electric and public utilities services, Mr. Killam played an active role in organizing and modernizing many companies in these fields. The various Royal Securities holdings included power companies in Alberta, Ontario, Québec, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, as well as pulp and paper companies in British Columbia, Québec and Nova Scotia. He had interests in other companies as well, such as Moirs Limited of Halifax, which became one of the best-known chocolate companies in Canada after he had completely overhauled it.

Despite his impressive professional accomplishments, Izaak Walton Killam was a reserved man who avoided publicity and was virtually unknown outside his small circle of close acquaintances. Characteristically, the substantial contributions he made to charities throughout his lifetime were always made anonymously.

In his private life, he was a keen salmon fisher. He also shared with his wife, Dorothy, a passion for baseball, especially for the Brooklyn Dodgers.
Dorothy Killam was born Dorothy Brooks Johnston in St. Louis, Missouri in 1899. Her parents were moderately affluent, and she was well schooled, athletic and widely travelled, with a good knowledge of French and German. Unlike her husband, Mrs. Killam was an extrovert who loved company and people generally. After she and Mr. Killam were married in 1922, they lived in Montreal, the centre of the Killam financial empire.

Izaak Walton Killam died suddenly and unexpectedly of heart failure in 1955, at his Quebec fishing lodge. He left all of his substantial estate to his wife, who demonstrated her own sound financial judgement by vastly increasing the fortune over the next 10 years. When Mrs. Killam died in 1965, after several years of poor health, her will set in motion the plans that she and her husband had discussed frequently in the later years of his life. While Mrs. Killam’s will generally reflected the intentions of her husband, it also included a substantial bequest to build a children’s hospital in Halifax as a memorial to him.

The Killam Trusts

In all, Dorothy Killam’s lifetime and testamentary gifts amounted to some $100 million and were given to the following institutions:

- The Canada Council for the Arts
- Dalhousie University
- The Montreal Neurological Institute at McGill University
- The University of Alberta*
- The University of British Columbia.

*In 1978, part of the bequest to the University of Alberta was transferred to the University of Calgary, after the latter institution had obtained its own charter.

The Killam Trustees

- Bernard F. Miller, QC, Halifax, Managing Trustee
- Jim Dinning, CM, F.ICD, LLD, Calgary
- Brenda Eaton, MA, ICD.D, Victoria
- The Honourable Kevin G. Lynch, PC, OC, PhD, LLD, Toronto and Ottawa
